A Message from the President of British Cycling

Welcome to the 2010 National Junior Track Championships

The event that will inspire a generation - the London Olympic Games - is now only 2 years away. Although it is possible that some of the riders here this week may make it into the British team, it is more likely that the riders that take part in these championships will be looking further ahead, to the 2016 Olympics and to wider objectives in our sport.

Events in themselves do not make champions, but without intermediate objectives, riders would lack the objectives and would certainly miss the experience that they will gather from championships such as these National Junior Track Championships. Every medallist here this week will certainly have worked hard. But this is just a stepping stone. The opportunities that lie ahead are there for the taking by these highly-motivated developing riders, who will certainly be racing their hardest over these Championships, but also need to keep a clear eye on the long term future.

Once again I feel able to say without fear of contradiction that this is a fantastic time to be a British Junior or Juvenile bike rider. Opportunity and talent continue to come together to provide real strength in depth, and the support mechanisms are in place to make sure that potential is maximised. Even those who don't win medals this week can be encouraged by the successes of others who have passed through this structure and often developed into their full potential later.

The key thing in sport for younger age groups is that everyone needs to keep their feet on the ground – many, many months of effort and the excellent support of coaches, back-up staff, and indeed families will still be needed to reach the ultimate levels of success. These Junior National Championships are nevertheless a vital rung on the ladder, and I think we can all expect to see the Olympic medallists of the future in action here this week.

I wish all the competitors all the best, and look forward to seeing their progress over the coming years.

My thanks also go to all the officials and helpers, who have given their time up to help the youngsters achieve their dreams, and without whom these Championships would not be possible.

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Brian Cookson". The signature is written in a cursive style and ends with a long horizontal flourish.

Brian Cookson OBE
